Level 3 Early Years Paediatric First Aid

The Level 3 Early Years Paediatric First Aid course is designed for those who work regularly with children and need to ensure they can act safely and effectively in an emergency situation. Treatment for children is different to adults and our course covers everything you need to know to administer first aid to young children.

Programme Outline

Our Level 3 Early Years Paediatric First Aid Course has been specifically designed for those who regularly work with children. The 12 hour course will cover many different areas of first aid for both babies and children, including both life-threatening and minor injuries. It is structured so that each student gets the opportunity to practice life-saving skills with other students in a fun and friendly environment. This will ensure that they are fully prepared for any medical situations when they return to work. The course covers the requirements set out by Department for Education in Early Years Foundation Stage – Every Child Matters. The trainer will assess your progress over the 2 days, which means that you don't have to sit an examination at the end of the course. Delegates will receive a certificate which is then valid for 3 years when they successfully complete this course.

Aims

To prepare the student for any medical situations involving young children, whether it is a minor, severe or life-threatening emergency.

Objectives

Once the student has successfully completed this course, they will be able to:

- Explain the role of paediatric first aider
- Assess a medical situation quickly
- Treat an infant or child who is suffering from breathing problems, head injuries, anaphylaxis, shock, insect stings, spinal injuries and chronic medical conditions.
- Deliver first aid to a child that is too hot or cold, unresponsive, choking or bleeding. You will also be able to treat a patient that has been poisoned, electrocuted or burnt.
- Complete injury, sickness and emergency records in line with their company's safety procedures.

Who is the programme for?

In March, the government announced that all newly qualified childcare staff will be required to complete a compulsory paediatric first aid course. This means that if you work in a nursery, pre-school, after school club, reception or primary school, you will need to have this certification. This training course is essential for anyone who has the responsibility of looking after children, so if this applies to you, please think about booking today.

This course is accredited by The First Aid Industry Body. The First Aid Industry Body (FAIB), a Trade Body (an acceptable option for Employers to choose as per HSE Information Sheet and DforE EYFS Guidelines) checks every registered Training Provider to ensure that they will always meet the standards that settings need to satisfy their Legal Requirements for First Aid provision as required by the Health & Safety Executive (HSE) and Ofsted.
